Dear Sir/Madam,

Subject: Request for article contribution to Volume II, Issue 1 of Journal on Corporate Law and Governance, National Law University, Jodhpur

Greetings!

National Law University, Jodhpur, established in the year 2001, is a top tier law school in India. During the past decade, the University has been scaling new heights through; inter alia, milestone achievements in national and international publications, international moot court competitions, academic pursuits, student placements with international organizations of the stature of the International Court of Justice, extraordinary industry performances and professional excellence.

Centre for Corporate Governance is a research hub under the rubrics of National Law University, Jodhpur, dedicated to research and development of governance standards for the corporate world. To this end, the Centre has been instrumental in making recommendations to India's securities market regulator, the Securities and Exchange Board of India, on regulatory reforms and various consultation publications. A few of the Centre's such endeavours include comments on the consultative paper on SEBI's suggested Clause 49 reforms, followed by a panel discussion involving eminent stalwarts like Padmabhushan Shri D.R Mehta (Founder Chairman, SEBI) and Ms. Usha Narayanan (Former Executive Director, SEBI)

In order to promote holistic research on areas covered within the wide ambit of corporate law, the Centre came out with an annual publication in 2008, presently known as 'Journal on Corporate Law and Governance' (formerly known as 'Journal on Governance'). The Journal offers a forum for critical research on interplay of contemporary issues in corporate law, both from an academic and industry perspective. Along with exploring the various problems and challenges that affect the corporate world, the Journal attempts to explore and offer workable solutions, which may be helpful in regulatory and policy decisions.

Our previous issues of the Journal boast of scholarly discourses from eminent legal practitioners, academicians, research scholars and students. The previous issues have dealt exclusively with a large number of contemporary subjects of corporate governance like Checks and Balances on Related Party Transactions, The Unsettled Debate between ESOPs and Independent Directors, Contemporary Challenges of Governance in PPP Models of Infrastructure projects, etc. The articles for publication are selected and worked upon through a meticulous and structured review and editing process. The Journal has received much appreciation from all contours of the industry and academia.

Continuing with its perseverance, the Journal has announced the release of its Volume II, Issue I, which will address a highly contemporary and relevant theme – ‘The Ease of Doing Business: A New Era of Corporate Law in India’. The Editorial Board of the Journal is pleased to invite you to contribute on the various issues within the scope of this broad theme. Along with detailed guidelines for article submission, we have also specified certain sub-themes for illustrative purposes in the attachment. We also encourage contributions undertaking a comparative analysis of the developments under Indian corporate law with other countries.

The Centre looks forward to receiving your scholarly contribution on this exciting and much-debated theme, with the hope that our collaboration will help further the Journal’s endeavour of promoting qualitative research on such contemporary themes of corporate law.

Yours Sincerely,

Dr. Manoj Kumar Singh,

Chief Editor, Journal on Corporate law & Governance

Asst. Prof. & Exec. Director, Centre for Tax Law

Director, Placement Committee
